Communicative Action and the Trans-Disciplinary Education in Taiwan by Kung-Pei Tang	40
1 Introduction	40
1.1 Organizational Framework of This Project	41
1.2 The SHS Program Runs by Platforms	41
2 Necessity for Communicative Action in SHS Program	42
3 Approaches to Communicative Action in SHS Program	44
4 Conclusion and Future Goals	48
Transdisciplinary Education: Self Knowledge and Quality of Being by Antonio Gomez Yepes, Domingo Adame and Enrique Vargas Madrazo	52
1 Background	52
2 Interior Knowledge	53
3 Examples of Inoperative Solutions	54
4 Actual Values Set and Possibility of their Transformation	55
5 To know	55
6 Who am I?	56
7 Hidden Third	57
8 Attention	57
9 Absence of Knowledge and Relation Human Being – Nature	58
10 Science that Depends on the State of Being	59

11 Towards Transdisciplinary Education	60
12 Conclusion	61
Qualitative Marketing Research, Neurosciences, and Transdisciplinarity by Georges Guelfand	65
1 Evolution in Qualitative Studies: Always More Targeted, More Challenging and More Technical Yet Fundamentally the Same?	65
2 Neurosciences and the Fantasy of the Unconscious	66
3 Beyond the Unconscious: Creative Imagination	67
4 Client’s Demand Towards Qualitative Research Have Changed	67
5 Conclusions and Perspectives : Where does That Lead Us ?	67
6 Qualitative Research and Transdisciplinarity	69
7 Concluding Remarks: Is Qualitative the Twelfth Camel?	70
Transdisciplinary Hermeneutics; Working From the Inner Self, Creating Ecologies of Knowing by Hans Dieleman	72
1 Introduction	72
2 The Neglected Inner Self	73
3 The Neglected Banality of Evil	75
4 Building Blocks for a Transdisciplinary Hermeneutics	77
5 Transdisciplinary Hermeneutics, Ecologies of Knowing and Spaces of Imagination and Experimentation	82
6 Concluding Observations	83
Information and the Future of Transdisciplinarity by Joseph E. Brenner	86
1 Introduction	86
1.1 What Has Happened to the Common Good?	86
1.2 Outline of Paper	87
2 Transdisciplinarity	87
2.1 Transdisciplinarity Today	87
2.2 The Logic of Transdisciplinarity. Logic in Reality	88
2.3 Complexity	88
2.4 “Cyber-Space-Time” and Cosmodernity	88
3 The Philosophy and Metaphilosophy of Information	89
3.1 The Philosophy of Information	89

3.2	The Metaphilosophy of Information. Phenomenology	90
3.3	Transdisciplinarity and Informational Thinking	91
3.4	The Informational Stance	92
4	Organizing for Change	93
4.1	Tech NO fix	93
4.2	Tech FuturICT	93
4.3	ICES	93
4.4	Crowdsourced Democracy	94
5	The Common Good	94
5.1	Social Responsibility and the ICTs	94
5.2	Ethics and Environmental Responsibility	95
5.3	Toward a New Democratic System	96
5.4	Transdisciplinarity and the Common Good	96
6	The Global Sustainable Information Society	97
7	Summary and Conclusions	98
7.1	Transdisciplinarity and Its Logic	98
7.2	The Philosophy of Information	98
	Global Knowledge in the Global City According to Paul Otlet's Twin Utopias
	by Paul Ghils	101
1	Universal vs. Particular	101
2	The Historical Context	101
3	The Scientific Utopia	103
4	Conclusion	108
	Some Considerations Regarding the Phenomenological Relationship Between Music And Mathematics
	by Gerardo del Cerro Santamaría	111
1	Introduction	111
2	Conclusion	116
	The Value of Transdisciplinary Collaboration in Robotics Education and Research
	by Gerardo del Cerro Santamaría	117
1	Introduction	117
2	Background	118
3	Case Study	120
3.1	Description of Project-Course	120
3.2	Robotics Team Profile	121
3.3	The Cooper Union Context	121

4	A Summative Assessment for the Robotics-for-Theater Project	122
4.1	Assessment Principles	123
4.2	Assessment Results: Tracking and Measuring Team Progress	124
5	Evaluation, Validity and Reliability	127
6	The Proposed Protocol	129
7	Future Work	130
8	Conclusion: The Value of Transdisciplinary Collaboration	130
	The Science of Bee Collapse and an Emerging Knowledge for Sustainability
	by Elsa Coimbra	133
1	Introduction	133
2	Challenges of Transition	134
2.1	Taking on Board the Human Dimension	134
2.2	Science in culture	135
2.3	Responding to Uncertainty and the Unknown	136
3	A way Forward	138
4	Some Final Remarks	141
	Homeland Security at Home
	by R. O. “Bob” Stroud	145
1	Introduction	145
2	Zone Control and Surveillance – The Ultimate Homeland Security	145
3	Application to Problem Under Consideration	146
4	Requirements	150
5	Results	150
6	Successes and Challenges	154
7	Details of Lessons Learned	154
8	Conclusions	155
	Legacy Interface Adapter Design Modeling: Part-I
	by Lonney J. Head	157
1	Introduction	157
2	Interface Adapter Software Design (IASD)	158
2.1	Component Oriented Axiomatic Design	158
2.2	Architectural Considerations	158
2.3	Project Planning	158

3	Component Oriented Axiomatic Design	159
3.1	Defining Customer Needs	159
3.2	Customer Needs and Constraints	159
3.3	Mature Domain	161
3.4	Functional Requirements and Design Parameters Decomposition	162
3.4.1	Level 1 FRs/DPs	162
3.4.2	Level 2 FRs/DPs	163
3.4.3	Level 3 FRs/DPs	164
3.4.4	Level 3 FRs/DPs (Revised and Grouped)	165
3.5	Resulting Module Definition	167
3.5.1	Adapter Components	167
3.5.2	Adapter Simulations	167
3.5.3	Missing Components (Identification)	168
3.5.4	Missing Components (Developed)	169
3.5.5	Integration	169
3.5.6	Adding Components to Mature Domain	171
3.5.7	Software Product (Execution)	172
4	Axiomatic Design Concluding Comments	172
